As the City continues to grow a location for an addition elevated storage tank is necessary to sustain the service levels for said growth potential for the City of Mansfield.

The City is in the process of revising its current water master plan. In doing so it is planning for the future needs of sustaining service levels for its citizens. The plan has identified locations that would be ideal for an additional elevated storage tank. This land has been identified as being in a location that would allow the City to sustain continued service levels for our citizens as well as potential growth. It is best to try and purchase the land now so that the City can solidify the location of the elevated storage tank in the planning stages.
